

Natalia Lebedeva
Oxford Russia Fund

Medicalization of Mental Disorders in Today's Russia

The goal of the report is to describe the social orders of diagnosis and clinical observation that are exist in Russian mental health system. The report presents materials of a qualitative study, which was conducted in psychiatric institutions of Moscow City and Region (Oblast). An analysis of series of in-depth interviews with medical staff (high-, mid- and low-level healthcare workers) that were carried out within the project reveal the way a diagnostic and rehabilitation practices are related to the structure of psychiatric agents' relations.